Tribute to
James A Bain

THIS VOLUME of Pharmacological Reviews is dedicated to Dr. James A. Bain who served as Editor of this Journal from 1982 to 1988, spanning Volumes 34 through 40. His careful and enthusiastic leadership enabled Reviews to meet the challenge of the 1980s by keeping current in its coverage of new and emerging fields in the discipline of Pharmacology.

Dr. Bain has played an important and leading role in guiding the growth and development of pharmacology for many years. He was one of the initial investigators in the field that subsequently became biochemical pharmacology. He also has served on many government and professional committees and, thereby, played an important role in shaping fundamental policies pertaining to the long-term support of research and research training in the basic biomedical sciences in the United States. In addition, he has served on the Board of Publication Trustees for ASPET prior to his service as Editor of Pharmacological Reviews. Under his astute guidance, our journal has expanded its reputation for publishing in-depth scholarly reviews of the most important current topics in the pharmacological sciences.

In his own unique and highly effective manner, Jim Bain has left his mark on the discipline he cares about so much. It is a great pleasure to add this small additional thanks for one more job so well accomplished.
